

Article - Labor and Employment

[\[Previous\]](#)[\[Next\]](#)

§9-748.

When, on appeal, compensation is awarded by an affirmance, modification, or reversal of an order of the Commission, the covered employee is entitled to interest on the compensation awarded at 6% a year on each installment of compensation not paid as it:

- (1) becomes payable under the award of the Commission; or
- (2) would have become payable if the Commission had awarded the same amount of compensation when it passed the order from which the appeal is taken.

[\[Previous\]](#)[\[Next\]](#)